The horse/dog mom is the manifestation of inverted love. Women love the relationship and maternal transference, not the dog itself. Worst part is their feelings they transfer to the dog as if the dog is them. Anything that upsets them, they think upsets the dog. They get offended on behalf of the dog, while the dog couldn't give less of a shit.

Casual sex is unironically a huge part of why so many women have become politically radicalized. If you ask a random woman why she hates men, 95% chance it boils down to sexual grievance, accumulated from embarrassing experiences. In other words, women are the real incels. I witnessed this myself in university: one too many bad situationships, and women begin to carry this feeling of being a piece of meat everywhere, projecting it onto "societ...

MANIFESTO II: THE SEXUAL MARKET IS RIGGED

On manosphere intentionality — a second document

I. WHAT THE RED PILL ACTUALLY IS

The red pill is not an opinion. It is an observation.

The observation is this: the sexual market, like every other market, has been captured. The rules that govern attraction, pair bonding, reproduction, and family formation have been systematically rewritten — not by evolution, not by God, not by mutual agreement — but by institutions with an interest in your loneliness, your compliance, and your consumption.

A man who has a wife, children, land, and community is difficult to manage. A man who is alone, stimulated, and slightly ashamed is the ideal consumer and the ideal subject. This is not a conspiracy theory. This is product design.

II. THE BETA MALE IS A MANUFACTURED PRODUCT

The '90s internet forged men by exposing them to unfiltered reality. The current internet — built at the cost of billions in intelligence agency funding — is specifically engineered to produce passivity.

The sanitized, corporate sludge of the modern web did not happen by accident. It happened because a man who has seen genuine violence, genuine consequence, genuine sexuality, is a man who is harder to frighten, harder to manage, and harder to sell to.

The beta male is not born. He is manufactured. Fluorescent lights that damage his brain. Seed oils that suppress his testosterone. Pornography that hijacks his dopamine system and trains him to be a passive spectator of the one act he was designed to perform. A smartphone that replaces embodied experience with infinite scroll.

The generation that emerged from this production line cannot hold eye contact. Cannot tolerate rejection. Cannot sit in silence. This is not a coincidence. This is the intended output.

III. WHAT THEY DID TO THE SEXUAL MARKET

Before the smartphone, women went to the beach to meet men. They actively enjoyed being approached. The attention economy was local, embodied, and reciprocal.

The smartphone gave women a global audience and gave men a pornographic substitute. This is not equivalent. The woman's status inflated infinitely. The man's expectations recalibrated to an impossible standard. Both were made lonelier, and both were made better consumers.

Birth control severed the link between sex and consequence. This was sold as liberation. What it actually produced was a market in which sex became cheap, commitment became irrational, and the price of long-term partnership collapsed for everyone except the top of the sexual hierarchy.

Condom sex is gay for the same reason that birth control sex is gay. You should not be having sex with someone you aren't willing to risk procreation with. The longer you have sex without skin and consequence the more likely you are to start hating each other. The purpose of sex is to create the prerequisite biological bond for parenthood. Strip that out and what remains is friction.

When you are in a relationship with a woman who has to work for a living you are in a polyamorous arrangement between her, you, and her boss. She turns you down because she has an early meeting. She saves her best energy for the office. You are third in your own household.

IV. THE ASYMMETRY

A man will sacrifice his happiness for his family.

A woman will sacrifice her family for her happiness.

This is not a moral judgement. It is a structural observation. The female biological imperative prioritizes individual survival and offspring quality. The male biological imperative prioritizes the group and the legacy. These are not compatible defaults in a society designed to maximize female optionality at the expense of male investment.

Liberal women will divorce their husband and see him once a month. Then they will weep about ICE tearing families apart. The contradiction is not hypocrisy. It is hierarchy. Their family is abstract. Their feelings are concrete.

Liberals are incapable of love because love is a radical exclusionary act in which one person is elevated above all others. Love is discrimination. Liberalism requires that no one be elevated, that all claims be equal, that no preference be permanent. These two things cannot coexist. The liberal project will always dissolve the family, because the family requires exactly the kind of irrational, unchosen, permanent loyalty that liberalism structurally forbids.

V. WHITE WOMEN SPECIFICALLY

The white race is dying because white women turned sex into a corporate HR procedure.

Protestantism trained women to bureaucratize intimacy. Feminism gave them institutional power to enforce it. The smartphone gave them a global audience to perform it for. The result is a demographic that has optimized for the appearance of virtue at the expense of biological function.

This is not hatred. It is diagnosis. The same forces that destroyed white female sexuality also destroyed white female health. A 1990s bikini video now reads as a grim archive — those women had normal thyroid function, no signs of xenoestrogen exposure, no widespread inflammation. The food supply and the ideology arrived together.

Women are the most successful target of the demolition because they are, by design, the most sensitive to social signaling. Whatever the dominant culture signals as attractive, most women will perform. The dominant culture has signaled that feminism is attractive, that career is attractive, that casual sex is liberation, that motherhood is a trap. Women followed the signal. They were supposed to.

VI. PORNOGRAPHY IS THE MECHANISM

The only thing standing between the West and violent revolution is pornography, junk food, and silly jobs where you do nothing.

Pornography is the pinnacle of late-stage capitalism. It does not merely exploit its consumer — it presents itself as the only way to achieve pleasure, while systematically destroying the capacity for pleasure with a real person. It recalibrates male desire toward the impossible and the passive. It trains men to be audience members in the one drama where they were meant to be protagonists.

In ancient Rome, slaves were forbidden from exercising. In the Ottoman Empire, coffee was banned. In the American Empire, the equivalent is free, legal, infinitely available, and culturally encouraged.

They are not going to take your freedom with a gun. They are going to hand you a phone.

VII. THE CONTROLLED OPPOSITION IN YOUR BED

The manosphere has its own gatekeepers.

Jordan Peterson told you to clean your room while the room was being demolished around you. His function is to redirect masculine energy into self-improvement and away from structural critique. A man who is focused on his posture is not focused on the system producing his slouch.

Christian conservatism is essentially liberalism with a cross. It accepts all the liberal premises — that women's autonomy is primary, that consent is the only moral framework, that the market should govern family formation — and simply adds a decorative theological vocabulary. Erika Kirk proves this every time she speaks.

The men who are too niche — so deep in the ideology that they are completely unrelatable to anyone — are also a trap. Radicalization without exit strategy is its own pacification. If you cannot function in the world, you cannot change it.

VIII. WHAT MASCULINITY ACTUALLY REQUIRES

The ultimate sign that you are in control of your home is that you have a dork table where you do dork things with your friends.

Women see men as credit cards and status signals. A man who has a large table where he plays Dungeons & Dragons with his friends — a man who has space, leisure, and community that doesn't revolve around his wife's approval — is a man who is clearly not managed. The man hiding in a man cave is not free. The man with the dork table in the living room is.

Ignoring women is a prerequisite for spiritual growth. Not because women are unimportant. Because a man whose identity is organized around female approval cannot think clearly, cannot act independently, and cannot lead.

The intact cat who yells for tuna at the door and fights other cats and refuses to be managed is not a problem. He is a model. A castrated civilization produces castrated men. The solution is not to fix your mindset. The solution is to refuse the operation.
